PRESIDENT FLAYS PACIFISTS--GOV'T PATIENCE NEAR END

6,000 DELEGATES TO LABOR CONVENTION APPLAUD CHIEF EXECUTIVE'S ADDRESS.

PLEDGES ANEW POWER OF AMERICA TO WIN

Declares Productivity of Country Must Be Raised to Highest Degree and that no One Should Stand in Way.

Buffalo, Nov. 12.—In the most stirring speech in his career, President Wilson today addressed the American Federation of Labor in convention here, he pledged anew all the power and the resources of the government to the destruction of Prussian military autocracy in the efforts towards winning he war.

With a fire unparalleled in all his previous war speeches the President flayed the pacifist movement, and made it clear that the patience of the government was nearing exhaustion in dealing with the obstructionists. Six thousand delegate visitors cheered the president with an enthusiasm that was not met with before the war. He left no doubt among those of his party where labor was standing in the conduct of the war. Said he, "if we are true friends of freedom, we will see that the whole power of the government and of the country and the productivities of the United States be raised to the highest degree, and nobody should be allowed to stand in its way."

President Wilson quickly followed this statement with a statement declaring that capital was more often to blame for labor troubles than the workmen and that he expected some new instrumentality of co-operation between labor and capital would be devised soon that would bring about and create a greater industrial efficiency.

Said Mr. Wilson, "the unpacifists have a peace dream that I know how to get if they don't. After the warning example of Russia, any nation that compounds with German and Prussian autocracy is simply inviting destruction."

In closing his address the president declared: "I'm for you if you're for me." Prolonged applauseand a storm of cheers greeted the president's closing remarks.

Expected to Meet Bunch From Burlington Junction, But They Failed to Show Up.

Twelve members of Troop I, Boy Scouts took a hike yesterday afternoon to Wilcox to meet a bunch of Scouts from Burlington Junction, who were expected to join them there, where they would spend a couple of hours getting acquainted with each other. The Burlington Junction Scouts failed to show up, however, and after waiting some time the Scouts hiked back home.

They all enjoyed the walk, reporting the roads in pretty good condition despite the rain of Saturday. The Scouts expect to go in a body Wednesday night to hear Lieut. Robert Bowman at the First Methodist church, tell his experiences on the battle fields of Europe.

BY NORMAL STUDENTS $1,200

Pledge Sum to Y. M. C. A. at Enthusiastic Meeting at Assembly—John McDougal Addresses.

At an enthusiastic meeting at the Normal today the students pledged themselves to raise a fund of $1,200 for the Y. M. C. A., the sum to be independent of the amount being raised by Maryville and Nodaway county.

The students were assembled in the auditorium where John McDougal, Y. M. C. A. secretary at Camp Dodge, who is visiting his parents, Judge and Mrs. R. L. McDougal, gave them some first hand information concerning the nature of the work in the army cantonments, and the need for additional funds for the prosecution of he work. President Richardson gave the plan to offer a pledge his support and in a brief address urged that it be undertaken and made with the least possible delay.

Three hundred studens of the Normal will undertake to raise the sum, $1,200, and from the enthusiasm with which they have undertaken the task it promises to be over subscribed.

Cox, Miss Jane Dillon, reader, gave several selections in her inimitable manner, winning more admirers, followin gher program of the evening before when she appeared as the second number of the Lyceum course.

WORK OF Y. M. C. A.

JOHN McDOUGAL AND BOYD WALKER ADDRESS MASS MEETING.

START DRIVE FOR FUND

Secretaries Tell How Work in Camps Is Conducted — Keeps Men Clean and Fit.

"The man who won't shoulder his part of the burden of this war by giving the easiest thing he has to give, his money, is not worthy to be an American citizen. For God's sake men and women let the boys you have sent out from your homes to fight for you, to give their lives for you as many of them are doing and will do in ever increasing numbers, know that you are back of them and going to see that they are provided with the things that will help to keep them clean and make them fit." It was an earnest appeal of Boyd I. Walker, Y. M. C. A. secretary at Camp Funston, who spoke yesterday afternoon at a mass meeting at the First M. E. church at the start of the campaign to raise $10,000 for the fund in this county.

Mr. Boyd with John McDougal, son of Judge and Mrs. R. L. McDougal, Y. M. C. A. secretary at Camp Dodge, Iowa, were here to aid the county committee in launching the drive in this district for the apportionment of $23,500 for the Y. M. C. A. Fund.

Following the singing of "America" and "Onward Christian Soldiers" and a prayer by Rev. S. A. Coile, of the Presbyterian church, M. E. Ford, chairman of the meeting, urged a greater realization and a deeper appreciation of the obligations resulting from the war. He declared that the people of the county were not yet awake to their duty. Mr. Ford expressed his pleasure and the honor it gave him to preside at the meeting and after making a few remarks introduced Secretary Boyd.

It Is "Gets to Go," not "Has to Go."

"Let me ask you to do one thing," said Mr. Boyd. "I hear people say, 'this one has to go, and that one has to go;' what we ought to be saying is, 'he gets to go;' it is the greatest honor a man can have come to him to fight in a cause like this," and he pounded his fist in the hollow of his hand in his earnestness.

Mr. Boyd said he would answer a question often asked: "Were Y. M. C. A. secretaries exempt from service?" He said that they were not and that he soon expected to be called to the colors. He gave briefly an outline of the plan to raise a fund of 35 million dollars for the Y. M. C. A work, showing how the money would be expended and gave an interesting outline of the work being done at Camp Funston, where eight big "Y" buildings—they call them huts—with over forty secretaries, look after the boys during recreation hours, provid-

RAISED $400 FOR REVIVAL

Baptist Members Show Appreciation of Worth of Meeting—Crowds Heard Dr. Wright Sunday.

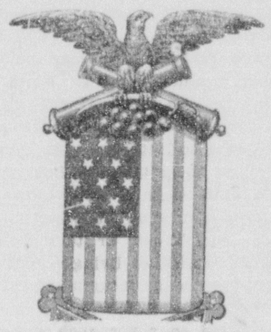
One of the largest crowds of the meeting being conducted at the Baptist church greeted Dr. E. F. Wright last night. The audience was so large that many had to be seated in the balcony. Dr. Wright held the audience with rapt attention in the delivery of his sermon on, "The Provident Son."

Mr. Hughes and Mrs. Carter sang a duet, "Love Divine," which was highly appreciated. Mr. Hughes sang by request the beautiful solo, "The Bells." At the close of the service six went forward and united with the church.

There was a large crowd at the morning hour and the pastor, T. H. Wiles, took an offering for the expense of the meeting and in ten minutes over $400 was pledged. The meeting will continue until Wednesday evening.

There will be day service tomorrow at 3 p. m. in the church parlors. Dr. Wright will speak on the Deacon's place in the church. Everyone is invited.

The Sunday school of the First Presbyterian church collected $90 yesterday morning for the relief of the stricken Armenian and Syrian peoples.



GIVE AND GIVE AGAIN!

Yes, of course, you have had a lot of calls on you recently for help.

Of course, you have given all you can afford this year. We all have. And your spare money is all tied up in Liberty Bonds? Of course. Fine investment. Safest in the world. Netting you 4 per cent.

But there are more than a million men who have put not only their whole earning capacity, but their lives as well, at the service of the government—which means at your service. They are doing your job as well as their own.

Have you done anything to compare to what they have done?

Well, then come across for the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. campaign! Money is little enough. You can spare it without hurting you. Surely you don't expect to accumluate money while this war is going on?

TO REDEEM RECORD

DRIVE FOR Y. M. C. A. FUND IS ON WITH $3,700 TO START.

"WE MUST GO THE LIMIT"

S. G. Gillam Tells Mass Meeting at Methodist Church That War Means More Than Taxes.

Maryville is pretty well ashamed of her past record as expressed in subscriptions to Liberty Bonds and gifts to the Red Cross. It fell far below the quota and what was expected, but Maryville is going to redeem that record by doing its full share in giving to the Y. M. C. A. fund. It is going to more than do it—the apportionment of $5,000 for Maryville and Polk township is going to be oversubscribed.

The drive that will continue all week began yesterday afternoon when $3,700 was raised at a mass meeting held at the First M. E. church. It was perhaps the most enthusiastic meeting held since America has been at war, in spite of the fact that speakers made a severe arraignment of the city and county's lack of patriotism and neglect of duty.

"I'm going to tell you people some things you won't like to hear," said S. G. Gillam, county chairman. "When this war started I thought that I would be paying all my obligations and doing my full part to the government and the country by paying all the taxes that would be imposed. I want to tell you it didn't take me long to get that idea out of my head, and you've got to get it out of yours. It means sacrifice; it means giving and then giving some more."

The Richest County a Laggard.

Mr. Gillam declared it was time for Maryville and Nodaway county to wake up and show their colors. He denounced the man who excused himself from giving because he had no sons in service and said he would like to buy space in the newspapers to publish the excuses of those who had refused to give. "If you fellows who have stood back and offered excuses in place of money don't show your colors this afternoon there is going to be some old fashioned Presbyterian cussin' from this pulpit," declared Mr. Gillam. "Just think of it; the richest county in Missouri not

KERENSKY STILL 'MAN OF THE HOUR'

LOYAL TROOPS WAGE VICTORIOUS WAR ON BELSHEVIKI.

PREMIER ESCAPED HIDDEN IN AMBULANCE

Kalendines, Famous Cossask Leader, Proclaims Himself Dictator of Moscow—Revolt to End.

London, Nov. 12. — Loyal Russian troops under Premier Kerensky have reached Petrograd and are waging a victorious fight for possession of the city, and according to reports received here Kerensky is again the " man of the hour" in Russia. The indications are today that he will once more fill the role of savior of the world's newest republic.

Many loyal troops are fighting the Belsheviki hordes while in and around Petrograd are the Cossacks, and it is believed it is certain that General Korniloff has ranged himself on the side of Kerensky. General Kalendines, the famous Cossack leader, has proclaimed himself dictator of Moscow where the Belshevikis were defeated by the Provisional forces. Advices from Copenhagen and Stockholm indicated that this week would see the end of the latest revolution in Russia, the fourth since the last of March.

Paris, Nov. 12.—A wireless dispatch from Haparanda in Sweden, near the Finnish border, says that Premier Kerensky has two hundred thousand men supporting him.

The wireless message, which escaped the censorship of the Bolsheviki by being sent from Haparanda, says Premier Kerensky left Petrograd on Tuesday night for general headquarters, being concealed in the bottom of a motor ambulance. It is understood he was accompanied by General Alexieff, former commander-in-chief, and by Foreign Minister Terestchenko.

Washington, Nov. 12. — While advices from the Russian and Italian fronts were much more reassuring today, administration officials declined to accept them as indicating that all danger is past. The position of official Washington all along has been that the Italian situation was fraught with more danger than was the Russian. There now is complete proof here today that Germany's plans call for the complete crushing of Italy, if that be possible.

Some may say we have given our quota for soldiers. Why? We were forced to do so. It's no evidence of patriotism or good citizenship to do only what the law compels. The time and money you voluntary give is the real test. Are you proud of Nodaway County's record thus far? No wonder the finger of scorn is already being pointed at us by some. In thinking about it, don't forget that Nodaway County's excess war profits on this year's farm products alone will exceed $2,000,000.00.

CARRY A SUNDRY TIRE KIT

A Well Stocked Kit Means Considerable Saving On Tire Expense.

The automobile tourist who insists upon traveling in absolute comfort, invariably carries in his car a more or less complete kit of repairing equipment, with which his tires and tubes may be fixed up in time of emergency.

A box of patches, a blow-out boot and a few valve insides do not occupy a great deal of space, but there are occasionally times when they prove of immense value.

In discussing this point the service manager of the Fisk Rubber company points out a way in which a motorist who is careful to keep his sundry kit well stocked, effects a considerable saving on his tire expense. He says that "slow leaks" one of the most exasperating difficulties which the motorist can encounter, is more often due to an imperfect valve inside than to any other one cause.

The simple and sure remedy for such trouble is to supply a new valve inside, which can be accomplished easily and quickly, thus remedying the entire cause. A well furnished sundry kit is sure to include several small articles of tire equipment, which ar bound to result in a saving to the motorist in both patience and money.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young — to do this you must watch your liver and bowels — there's no need of having a sallow complexion — dark rings under your eyes — pimples — a bilious look in your face — dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

MUST KEEP INCOME RECORD

Married and Single Men Will be Furnished Blanks to Make Income Tax Report.

It behooves every married man in Maryville whose net income will run over $2,000 this year and every single man whose net income will run over $1,000 to keep account of his income and outgo this year, for he will have to make return next year between January 1 and March 1. Forms on which to make returns will not be available until January 1. The internal revenue collector suggests that requests for them to his office be deferred until then. "Net" income is the remainder after subtracting expenses from gross, or total income. Personal, family, or living expenses is not expense in the meaning of the law the exemption of $1,000 or $2,000 being allowed to cover such expenses. Wife's income should be included in the husband's. Deductions from gross income allowed are taxes paid (but not for special improvements), interest paid on borrowed money and business expense. Money spent in permanent improvements or otherwise invested is not expense.

'JOSEPH AND HIS BRETHREN'

A Picture of the Wonderful New Testament Story at Christian Church Tomorrow Night.

The amusement loving public is getting its money's worth this week with attractions at several places. At the Christian church tomorrow night "Joseph and His Brethern," by Louis N. Parker will be the Lyceum course picture, adapted from the $100,000 stage production.

Hearts and minds of children and grown-ups throughout the ages have thrilled in the retelling of that wonderful story of Joseph of the coat of many colors, and of his rise to power in ancient Egypt.

The atmosphere and Palestine of the time when the world was young, has been admirably preserved. The characters look and act like human beings of the old testament, when their God was a Deity of vengeance, fire and sword, 'ere out of Nazareth came one who was to tell of the God of Love.

On account of the entertainment at the Methodist church the picture will start at 7:15, for the benefit of those who desire to attend both. The first reels will be run again at the close for those who are not able to come earlier.

NO?-WE'LL SHOW 'EM

IMPOSSIBLE TO LAND AN ARMY IN 1918, SAYS GERMANY.

HAVE IT ALL FIGURED OUT

Count on But Half Million Men, Rest Will be Needed Here—Scoffs at Danger from an Air Force.

London, Nov. 12.—The Times says: The German press still regards the public with persistent depreciation of the military efforts of the United States. The Cologne Gazette was supplied last Tuesday with an elaborate telegram from Berlin entitled: "Participation of the United States in the war." It begins:

"Nowhere has it been so clearly recognized as in England and the United States that the war can be carried only by the whole economic strength of the country. America supported the entente with money and munitions Since 1916 less than half of what was ordered from America has been delivered to the entente.

"Since the declaration of war America will have to make a greater use of her fighting resources. This increase is possible only as regards money and pressure upon neutrals. As regards munitions, it is more difficult since the Americans need their own material. Their support of the allies also is dependent upon the transport question."

Petrograd, Nov. 12.—Measures to curtail the activities of medical organizations, including the Red Cross have been undertaken by a committee at army headquarters with the object of eliminating all those whose employment is not absolutely necessary. This action has been taken on account of the difficulty in obtaining the food supply.

The Cologne Gazette reviews its published statistics of the American army and the raising of men. It observes that all the new forces recently enrolled are recruits, but admits that training is conducted with energy. The article continues:

Ready for Our Airmen.

"Much fuss is made over the airmen. Their training is easier and quicker than the creation of a whole army. But no whole units have yet come. At the outbreak of the war their strength was 200 military airmen. Their material was almost entirely unsuitable. Even now the Americans do not seem far beyond the experimental stage. No doubt it will be the spring of next year before airmen in large numbers will be available. Both as regards their personnel and material, we have taken adequate counter measures and shall be ready to meet the new danger which we take by no means lightly."

The Gazette says there may perhaps be one division of fighting troops in Europe, and proceeds:

"This division is first trained behind the front and only now has a part of it been put in a quiet sector of the front. This also is still part of their training. Moreover, putting in troops constitutes a danger to the Americans through casualties, for these trained men are absolutely necessary for training others.

"When will the training of the United States Army have progressed far enough? Not before spring next year can it be expected that 1,400,000 men be scantily trained. The second installment of the national army, 500,000 men will not be trained before the end of 1918. America cannot send all of these 1,400,000 men, since a great part are needed at home for training purposes, coast defenses, Mexico, etc."

The Gazette calculates that regular sailings of 40,000 to 50,000 tons would be required at the end of the winter and during the summer in order to transport an army of 300,000 to 400,000 men by the late summer of 1918.

"America is simply not in a position to do it." The article continues:

Green Troops not Worth Much.

"Even if our calculations should not be accurate, the question arises, What influence will it have on the war if 500,000 Americans should come to Europe? Divisions not yet trained are in value about equal to that of the English territorial divisions, which for the most part were failures. Not until 1916 did they become our equals as enemies. Their preliminary conditions of training are other than England's because England had a strong foundation of trained men and officers—70,000 to 80,000 men. Yet England took a year and a half to create an army of 1,000,000.

"One is justified in concluding that the American army will be about the same value as the Rumanians, when opposed to us for the first time. America cannot in 1918 intervene decisively."

The Gazette proceeds to argue that America does not really want to take part in the war, but is using the opportunity to create an army. Americans desire only to give "moral support" to the allies.

The appearance of such articles at the present moment presumably indicates that the German propagandists are dissatisfied with the moral effect of the victories over Italy, and are already troubled by skeptical inquiries as to the future.

Rye Bread.

Rye bread is by no means a war bread, because in peace times it is used in many homes in preference to wheat bread. Because of the heavy demand upon the nation's wheat supply, more rye bread should be made by the housewives, according to today's bulletin from the National Emergency Food Garden Commission, working in conjunction with this newspaper to conserve the nation's food supply.

The proportion of rye flour and wheat flour needed in making rye bread will vary according to personal taste from 1—4 to 3—4, or even more or less. The more rye flour used the heavier, firmer and darker colored will be the bread. The following recipe gives a little more than 2—3 of rye flour, and the bread will be quite firm and dark colored. This is enough for two loaves.

1 cup water.
1½ cups white flour.
1 cup skim milk.
1 tablespoon shortening.
2 tablespoons brown sugar.
1 teaspoon salt.
3½ cups rye flour.

All measurements are level full. Dissolve the yeast in the lukewarm water. Stir together the white flour and cup of water and add the yeast to make the sponge to stand over night. In the morning scald the milk and add the salt and shortening. When cool add this to the sponge and work in the rye flour, either in the pan or on the bread board. Knead well and let rise to double its bulk. Then mould into loaves, let rise again to double its bulk and bake in a moderately hot oven.

Cornmeal may be substituted for one-fourth of the rye flour, if desired.

All Traces of Scrofula Eradicated from the System

By the greatest of all purifiers.

A common mistake in the treatment of scrofula has been the use of mercury and other mineral mixtures, the effect of which is to bottle up the impurities in the blood, and hide them from the surface.

The impurities and dangers are only added to in this way.

For more than fifty years S. S. S. has been the one recognized reliable blood remedy that has been used with highly satisfactory results for Scrofula. Being made of the roots and herbs of the forest, it is guaranteed purely vegetable, and absolutely free from all mineral ingredients.

You can obtain S. S. S. from any drugstore. Our chief medical adviser is an expert on all blood disorders, and will cheerfully give you full advice as to the treatment of your own case. Address Swift Specific Co., Dept. F Atlanta, Ga.

HEARD SCIENCE LECTURE

John R. Dunn Delivers Interesting Address at Empire Theatre Yesterday Afternoon.

An interested audience at the Empire theatre yesterday afternoon heard John Randall Dunn, member of the lecture board of the Christian Science church in an address entitled, "Christian Science, the Supreme Discovery of the Age." Mr. Dunn said in part:

"Christian Science is not a modern philosophy, not the "product of a fertile human brain." It is the revelation of the spiritual facts of being, the revelation of the truth about God and man taught by Jesus and the prophets, and it is all to be found in the Bible."

"Do you know that Jesus once pointed out a very simple method of discovering a true Christian? The directions are to be found in the sixteenth chapter of Mark, and follow immediately the well known command to 'preach the gospel to every creature." His words are:

"And these signs shall follow them tha tbelieve; In my name shall they cast out devils; they shall speak with new tongues; they shall take up serpents; and if they shall drink any deadly thing it shall not hurt them; they shall lay hands on the sick, and they shall recover."

"Christians, are we measuring up to this standard? Suppose we are traveling in a distant land, and a would-be convert says to us, "Are you a Christian?" And upon receiving an affirmative reply, suppose he next says: "Oh, how glad I am that you came! I see by your Bible that signs are to follow true believers. Now Iam possessed of a veritable devil. I am a victim of the opium habit. Do, I beg of you, through your beautiful religion, cast this devil out!" What would we say? Would we recommend a well known sanitarium famed for its treatment of the drug habit, or what would we do? Suppose he then says: "My old mother is very ill. I see by your book that a Christian, understanding the great power taught by Jesus, can cause her to recover. Come, I pray you, and heal her!" What would we now say? Would we suggest a change of doctors, or recommend a new diet or climate—or would we undertake to put our faith to the test? And if by chance we say to this hungering thought: "Ah, my dear sir, that was not meant for our time! The days of healing are past,"—do not be surprised if he closes the Bible and hands it back with this statement: "Very well! I have a religionto die by that is older than yours!"

"LITTLE WOMEN" TONIGHT

Dramatization of Louisa M. Alcott's Delightful Story Will be Presented by Large Cast.

The third number of the Fall Festival Lyceum course at the Methodist church tonight, "Little Women," is the feature attraction of the five days entertainment.

The dramatization of "Little Women" is in four acts andtwo scenes, the first three acts showing the March sitting room, an exact reproduction of the Alcott sitting room in Concord, Massachusetts, where the story of "Little Women" was really lived, and where a part of the story was written. The fourth act is the apple orchard at Plumfield in harvest time, veritable golden harvest home, when all the love stories are finished.

For years Miss Alcott's heirs would not consent to have the story made into a play, but finally the dramatization of the novel was approved by the Alcott family and William A. Brady has given "Little Women" a production that faithfully carries out and preserves the story of the book.

"Little Women," as presented tonight will carry a cast of capable players.

Jane Dillon, the woman with the wonderful voice, delighted a good sized audience Saturday night with a varied program of readings. Miss Dillon is a master of her art and is the fortunate possessor of a voice of exceptional range and power which adds to the intelligent interpretation of her repertoire of readings.

The Making of A Soldier of the Seas

By Richard Boeckel

A Marine Corps Cantonment, Nov. 10.—The only enlisted man in the service of the United States with two medals of honor is one Daniel Dailey, top sergeant of a machine gun company of the Marine Corps in training here.

He got his second medal only the other day. It is strung on a blue ribbon spangled with white stars, and it is to be worn around the neck, but Top Sergeant Dailey carries it in his back pocket with his pipe. Not that he doesn't appreciate it—that he does—but in the back pocket with his pipe is a place of honor, and besides it wouldn't look well as a necktie. If he wore one medal around his neck he'd have to wear the other there, too, so as to show no discrimination. Dailey feels the only thing to do is to keep them in his back pocket.

Dailey is the real fighting man. He is the oldest man in his company—older than the major himself—and he enlisted long ago. It was during the Boxer rebellion in China that he earned his first medal of honor. Dailey wasn't the first man over the wall, but he was the first man over that particular section at which he was stationed. He held back an entire army corps, more or less, of Boxers until the rest of the boys got up and over, and a medal of honor was his reward.

The second medal came after he pitched into a gang of bandits down in Santo Domingo and routed them single handed. Dailey never displays his medals except to the friends of the Major, on the Major's orders. Then he does it reluctantly. He has something of the attitude of a miser toward them.

Although he must be full of them, Dailey never tells a story. When the boys gather in the bunkhouse at night Dailey will go out into the camp and hunt up some old crony of former campaigns who is a story teller and bring him back to entertain the newly enlisted men. Then he will go to bed, for Dailey is the hero of many a story that is told by the older men of the Marine Corps.

"What do you think of the new Springfields?" asked the major of his top sergeant when they were fighting the little brown men in the Philippines.

"Not much," said the "Old Top." I hit a feller in the neck with one the other day and it didn't break it."

"What, the rifle?"

"No, his neck."

Daily is just as anxious to get started on the "big trip" as anyone in camp. The difference is that the others expect to come back. Dailey doesn't.

"If the Dutch don't get me," he says, "the weather will."

Dailey is an old man. His hair is snow white, and if he wore a beard he would seem a patriarch. But, unlike most old men who know what war is, he is glad America got into the big fight. The day war was declared was the happiest of his life. The only time he ever was tempted to desert was when he thought we wouldn't. He wanted a crack at the Boche.

HOW WAR CAME TO A TOWN

Moving Pictures Were Shown of General Pershing's Forces Arriving in Europe.

The war has been brought home to our town, says "WH" in the New York Times.

We are not a drowsy community hidden away in the hills and indifferent to world events. We are twenty-two miles from New York. We knew what had happened that Good Friday morning, one hour after Congress had acted. But Flanders was far away. The days passed, and we heard no hostile guns. No trains passed our station carrying wounded. True, our Red Cross began to prepare dressings and bandages, but it was as though they prepared them for strangers — certainly not for our own young men. There was an air of detachment about it all.

Draft day didn't stir us much. Perhaps, if our quaint local paper had been printing a little list each week headed "Killed in Action" we would have felt the full force of what happened when Secretary Baker drew No. 25 from the bowl. But we had been reading of war for almost three years, and in all that time we had not seen a wounded man. Probably not one of us had talked to a man who had faced the German gunfire.

And then we went down to see pictures of General Pershing's arrival in France. We saw a ship riding in a strange harbor, with khaki-clad men clustered about her rail — men like those guarding our railroad bridge. We saw Pershing land. We saw his reception. We saw his progress through the streets of two French cities. We saw the stars and stripes break from the staff on top of a French building—

A yell broke loose in the darkened theatre. Not youngsters now, but men and women. The noise grew and grew in volume. Our little moving picture house had never heard such an uproar. The operator grew rattled and turned too fast. The pianist played "The Star Spangled Banner" and missed many of the notes. On our feet, we sang our anthem. The picture ended, but we sang on. Our boys were in France! We had seen them.

That night I walked home behind a father and his son. The father was one of the men who had declared that the war would be over before we could get into it. They walked very slowly, and I walked slowly, too. Our thoughts were with a ship riding in a strange harbor. "They're really over there!" the boy said in an awed voice.

The man nodded absently.

"Pop, I—" He cleared his throat to rob it of its huskiness. "Pop, I guess it's up to me to go."

The man put a hand on his shoulder. In silence they walked on up the street. The war has come home to us.

Chronic Diseases not Incurable.

There are hundreds afflicted with chronic diseases who, though not confined to their beds, have not seen a well day for years. They are either partially or totally incapacitated for business or enjoyment of life. Their cases are more than likely curable even if they have given up hope. They will not, however, be well unless they first determine to do something to get well. For them the best treatment is none too good. Patent medicines and every day methods will not do. They require special attention and treatment, such as can be given only by the experienced and up-to-date specialist in that line. Dr. Prettyman is the most available specialist for this community to consult. He has a reputation and you can depend upon him. Consult him free at the Linville Hotel Wednesday, Nov. 14. (Adv).

TO REDEEM RECORD

coming anywhere near doing its share in these things. I am getting tired of being asked by outsiders: 'What's the matter with Maryville?' Our quota in the first Liberty Bond campaign was half a million dollars; I'm ashamed to tell you what was actually subscribed. Our quota in the second issue was three-quarters of a million and we subscribed less than a third of it. Our quota for the Red Cross was $30,000 and we barely gave one-half. Are you proud of that record? Are you willing to stand on it when other towns and counties all over the country are doing more than their share?"

Pick Out the Dodgers.

Mr. Gillam announced that there would be no let up until the full quota for Maryville and Nodaway county had been subscribed and that the war chairmen and their workers, township chairmen and their aids had covered every town in the county thoroughly. He said that every subscription would be recorded and the name of the subscriber published. "We want to know who the fellows are that are dodging the issue," said he, and all of us know who is able to give and if your name is not in the list you'll be singled out. We want to put you where you belong. This war has come home to Maryville with our more than three hundred boys in service. We've got to go the limit before this thing is through and we might as well get a good start right now."

"I want you to look around over this audience and see who the men are who are not here. They knew they would be called on to give something and they have stayed away. There ought to have been a bigger crowd here than this, but we are going to give everybody an opportunity to get in on this."

Frank Barret of Skidmore, reported this morning that Skidmore had already raised its quota of $600, Green township reports half of its quota already raised. So far Russell I. Bilby heads the list of subscribers with a subscription of $250.

The names of subscribers to the fund will be given tomorrow, the list not having been prepared in time for this issue of the Democrat-Forum.

The following men have been named city ward chairmen: First ward: Henry Westfall; second ward, Walter Mutz; third ward, Dan R. Baker; fourth ward, Chas. Wadley.

The following are chairmen and the various towns: Hopkins, Ed C. Donlin; Elmo, Z. T. Alexander; Burlington Junction, R. N. Barber; Pickering, Grant McMillen; Skidmore, Frank Barrett; Conception Junction, P. W. Nelson; Guilford, Arthur Thompson Jackson township, Rev. C. R. Green.

Died of Premature Old Age!

(By V. M. Pierce, M. D.)

How many times we hear of comparatively young persons passing away when they should have lived to be 70 or 80 years of age. This fatal work is usually attributed to the kidneys, as, when the kidneys degenerate, it causes auto-intoxication. The more injurious the poisons passing through the kidneys the quicker will those noble organs be degenerated, and the sooner they decay.

It is thus the wisest policy, to prevent premature old age and promote long life, to lighten the work of the kidneys. This can be done by drinking plenty of pure water all day long, and occasionally taking a little Anuric before meals. This can be obtained at almost any drug store. Anuric will overcome such conditions as rheumatism, dropsical swellings, cold extremities, scalding and burning urine and sleeplessness due to constant arising from bed at night.

PROMINENT MISSOURI WOMAN

Splendid Physical Condition.

St. Louis, Mo.—"Several years ago I had woman's weakness very bad. I suffered so much that I could scarcely stand with comfort. One bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription gave me such wonderful relief that I just gave myself a course of treatment with both the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Favorite Prescription' until I was absolutely cured. Ten years have elapsed since that time and I have been in perfect health all the while. I feel safe in saying that I owe my present splendid physical condition to the use of these remedies."—Mrs. Elizabeth Wilkie, 912 Chambers St.

WORK OF THE Y.M.C.A.

ing musicales, picture shows, lectures, classes in English, French and other branches and technical lines, religious services, athletics of all kinds, writing material and reading matter.

"One thing I want to impress on you," said Mr. Boyd, "don't, don't for God's sake write your boys doleful and discouraging letters. Write cheerful, encouraging things to them. Nothing in the world so quickly unfits a man as to get a doleful letter from home. It is the greatest influence in the life of a soldier—these letters from home, from his best girl."

Crowd at Religious Services.

"Don't think, either, that the men there do not think of religious things. They are wondering now, as never before with the prospect of facing death, whether or not there is a God, and what is to come after this life. Let me tell you, at our religious services on Sunday and on Wednesday nights the crowds are so great that it is almost impossible to find standing room. It took an officer the other night ten minutes to get from the rear door to the secretary's desk at the other end of the hundred foot long building.

"Athletics is another feature of our work, and foot ball especially is being developed. There is no other game like it to train a man to take care of himself in a tight place where the odds may be against him. We teach them boxing and games that tend to develop them physically and look after their welfare and comfort in their every idle hour, and we have the co-operation of Maj. Gen. Wood and every army officer." Mr. Boyd was given a round of applause as he finished his earnest and enthusiastic talk of nearly an hour. He left immediately to take a train to fill an engagement last night at Rock Port.

Applause Greets John McDougal.

Secretary McDougal was loudly applauded as he came to the platform, the audience rising as an expression of their feeling in behalf of his brother, Frank E. McDougal, "missing or captured" in France. Mr. McDougal gave briefly a number of interesting facts in connection with the work at Camp Dodge. They were all the more interesting from the fact that the wide scope of the work being done by the Y. M. C. A., has not been fully realized outside the cantonments, the secretaries, acting as far as possible, the part of older brother and counselor to the men with whom they come in contact. Mr. McDougal gave several instances of the practical benefit that had resulted from work done by his own associates.

At the close of the meeting Mr. McDougal met and shook hands with many of his former Maryville friends and acquaintances. He explained that the reason he was engaged in the work at Camp Dodge instead of with the boys in Missouri, was because of the fact that he began at Ottumwa and had been asked to remain with the Iowa troops. He showed his evident pleasure in being able to come back home to lend his aid in starting the campaign and was among the first subscribers to the fund.

What a Kentucky County Did.

Dr. E. F. Wright, who is conducting a series of meetings at the Baptist church, declined to take up further time of the meeting, when asked to speak, but said he wanted to bring greetings from his mountain home county in Kentucky, where the first and second Liberty loans were oversubscribed forty and sixty per cent, their fund to the Red Cross one hundred per cent, and where the people had made and sent one complete hospital unit, and where they had gone on record in convention that all business during the war would be conducted without profit, their lives and their fortunes pledged in support of the government. Prolonged applause greeted the statement.

200 COMING FROM ANDREW

County Will Send Large Delegation to S. S. Convention—Committee Urges Registration Early.

Besides large delegations from Kansas City and St. Joseph who will come to the State Sunday School Convention next week, Andrew county sends word that 200 from that county will be here. Sam R. Wells, president of the Andrew county association advises that practically every Sunday school in the county will send from five to twenty delegates and plans to win the contest with Nodaway in attendance. Savannah also will send a large delegation it is learned today.

The committee on registration announces that next Sunday will be the last day for Maryville folks to register. All persons who desire to attend the sessions of the convention will be required to pay their dollar next Sunday to the superintendents of the various schools; on Monday headquarters at the Baptist church will be opened and each person who registers will be given an attendance button, song book and credentials. It is urged that Maryville folks register early in order to allow plenty of time for registering the visitors and assigning rooms.

There will be two special trains next Tuesday, one on the Wabash and another on the Burlington. The committee wants to secure volunteers with automobiles to meet these trains and take the delegates to the Baptist church. H. L. Raines, chairman of the committee, will list the names of any who will volunteer this service on next Tuesday.

Mrs. Jennie Bantz has returned from Marshall, where she visited her son, Dr. Robert Bantz and wife.
